

Homeschool Learning Network

Short Story Quiz

1. The four elements of plot are exposition, complication, climax, and resolution.
2. Readers learn about the characters in a story by studying their physical traits, dialogue, actions, attire, opinions, and point of view.
3. The setting of a story consists of its location and time.
4. The author's view of life and of how people behave comprise the theme of a story.
5. When a story is written from a first person point of view, the narrator participates in the action.
6. Readers can often figure out the theme of a story by studying its title, symbols, patterns, allusions, and details.
7. When a story is written from an omniscient point of view, the narrator knows everything about all the characters.
8. Plot structure refers to the way in which the story elements are arranged.